

Inaugural Define: Seoul brings design, fine art to youthful Seoul neighborhood

Kar Studio's lacquered ash wood furniture engages in a dialogue with Akio Igarashi's grayscale paintings at a booth organized by the international design and art gallery Galerie Philia. Courtesy of Maison Mouton Noir

Under the theme of “A Look within Matter,” participating galleries and brands have put forth their own interpretations of the fusion of art and design, with some efforts more successful than others.

Kar Studio's pitch-black, lacquered ash wood furniture engages in a thoughtful dialogue with Akio Igarashi's meditative grayscale paintings at a booth organized by the international design and art gallery Galerie Philia.